

NO LOVE LETTERS TO MRS. MOFFATT

Rev. James W. Cool, New York Clergyman, Indignant at Connection of His Name with California Divorce Suit.

NEW-SINGING EVANGELIST.

But Only Two Letters He Wrote Her Wrote on Business—Remarkable Career of Woman Who Was Rescued from Dance-Hall.

Rev. James W. Cool, pastor of the Bedford Park Congregational Church, in the Bronx, is indignant over the statement telegraphed from Los Angeles, Cal., to-day, that a letter purporting to come from him had been used as evidence in the divorce suit against Mrs. Emma Moffatt, the famous singing evangelist.

It was said that the Rev. Mr. Cool's letter was filled with protestations of love, and that he begged Mrs. Moffatt that while she stood beside his pulpit she would indicate to him by a look that his affection was requited.

"If any such letter was produced," said the Rev. Mr. Cool to-day in his rectory, at Two Hundred and First street and Bainbridge avenue, "it is a forgery. I knew Mrs. Moffatt slightly, and wrote her but twice in my life, and those were business letters regarding an engagement to sing for my congregation, which was then at Tongore, N.
Y."

A Remarkable Career.

Mrs. Moffatt has had a remarkable career. She was rescued from a dance hall by Charles N. Crittenton, a wealthy wholesale druggist of this city, who is founder of the Crittenton homes, and maintains the gospel car Good News, which travels free on all the railroad systems of the country while its occupants are carrying on evangelistic work.
Mrs. Moffatt, after her conversion, became the most noted Gospel singer in this country.

She is exceedingly pretty, of most engaging personality, has a voice that has brought tears from the most handsome sinner, and her eyes have proven hypnotic in their attentiveness. The result of all this was that she was the recipient of amazing love epistles from men who heard her, and her influence was rather disturbing to many ministers in whose churches she appeared.

Was Married Twice.

She married twice. Her first husband was Frank Dyer, a Los Angeles newspaperman, after a shooting affair in which a banker was involved, they were divorced. She then married Joseph Moffatt, a wealthy California honey producer, and with him traveled about this country and Europe. Year after year she visited the fifty-seven Florence Missions founded by Mr. Crit-tenton in memory of his daughter, who died years ago, and made many conversions.

Three years ago she went to London with Mrs. Barrett, the national superintendent of the Crittenton homes.
Fifteen months ago she went to Bakers-field, Cal., to sing.

"I met Mrs. Moffatt in Spokane, Wash.," said the Rev. Mr. Cool to-day.
"My father was a Congregationalist later there, and I a lawyer. She sang at his church, and I was introduced to her casually. Three years ago, after I had been ordained, I was located at Tongore, N. Y., and my father wrote me that Mrs. Moffatt was coming East and that I should secure a room for her. I wrote to Mr. Crittenton, and he notified me to communicate with her personally."

"My first letter brought no response, but the second did, and she sang in my church. I have never seen or written to her since."

Trouble with Husband.

"Two months ago I heard from the Rev. Mr. Crittenton, of the Florence Mission, in this city, that Mrs. Moffatt was having trouble with her husband.
From the Rev. Mr. Campbell, of the Washington Avenue Methodist Church, who is a native of Los Angeles, I learned more recently that there had been no divorce suit, and that Mrs.
Moffatt and her husband had arranged a separation out of court."

"No letters of mine could have been introduced as evidence in the proceeding. If any such document as the one spoken of was brought to light it is a forgery."

ANIMALS AT JUNGLE BALL.

Unique Feature Is Planned at Coney Island To-Night.

One of the most novel attractions of the season at Coney Island will be the "Jungle Ball" in the Sea Beach Palace to-night. With Frank C. Bostock's animals as spectators, the ball promises to be exciting, if nothing more. But the Palace has been decorated in most magnificent manner, a special band of music has been engaged, and invitations have been sent to and accepted by many of the most prominent men of this and other cities. Costumes of every conceivable description will be seen upon the floor, many of which, from the standpoint of uniqueness and brilliance, will outvie those seen at the French Ball in Madison Square Garden. The fun will commence precisely at 10:30 o'clock.

BUTTON IDENTIFIED HIM.

Police Officer Finds Body of William Park in the North River.

Patrolman Patrick Reidy, of the West One Hundred and Fifty-second street station, found the body of a man in the North River to-day at the foot of One Hundred and Sixty-second street. He was about forty years old, 5 feet 7 inches tall, weighed about 160 pounds and had brown hair and blue eyes.
His clothes consisted of dark blue trousers, white cotton underwear, black socks and white canvas shoes. In his pocket was found a button marked "Newman Sunday School." Later he was identified as William Park, of No. 28 John street, Harrison, N. J. He was identified through the button.

VOWED SHE WOULD WED SILK WEAVER

Rose Schlegel May Be Married To-Day if She Keeps Vow Made to Her Protesting Uncle.

To-day may be pretty Rose Schlegel's wedding day. If it isn't she will have spent a month in hiding in vain. She ran away from her uncle's home at No.
25 North Washington place, Astoria, on Aug. 16, with the avowed intention of marrying Emil Brink to-day. Uncle Bernard Schlegel had objected.

Miss Schlegel is a fine looking blonde of twenty-one. Her uncle has a hotel in Astoria, and Brink met the young woman while boarding there. Brink is thirty-eight years old and a weaver of silks. He worked in the Astoria mills.
Brink fell in love with Miss Schlegel and she with him. On Aug. 10 the man asked Uncle Bernard if he might marry Rose. It was the first that the uncle had suspected that Rose was grown up.
Very testily he refused to sanction an engagement, declaring that Brink was altogether too old to be Rose's husband.

The young woman pouted and then declared tearfully that she would wed her lover in just one month. Both Brink and Miss Schlegel disappeared that same afternoon.

The young woman was traced to No.
1255 Second avenue, Manhattan, but left before Uncle Bernard could catch her. She was not with him. It was learned later that Brink had gone to work in Patterson and to-day Uncle Bernard got detectives to find out where he boarded there. It was found to be at No. 15 or No. 18 Elm street.
But there was no trace of Rose. Remembering her threat the uncle put an advertisement in the newspapers offering a reward for news of her whereabouts.
He hopes to find her before she can get married.

Miss Schlegel had considerable money and several diamond ornaments when she disappeared. She is the heiress of her uncle, who is well to do.

WEALTHY COUPLE WED.

Surrounded by their children and the bride's one grandchild Joseph Dickson and Mrs. Emma V. Rumsey, of St.
Louis, were married at the Waldorf-Astoria. Mr. Dickson is a wealthy lawyer and railroad man and his bride was the widow of Lewis M. Rumsey, a millionaire manufacturer.

Mrs. Rumsey went to Paris eight months ago and was followed by her two daughters in June. Mr. Dickson accompanied them and it was while in Paris that he became betrothed to their mother. The engagement was kept a secret. Mrs. Rumsey did not tell her daughters until they were on the Atlantic. The wedding was held at the Waldorf-Astoria on the sixth floor, the ceremony was performed by Rev. William H. O'Brien at 5 o'clock and an hour later the wedding dinner was served.
Mr. and Mrs. Dickson will remain here until Sept. 20, when they will return to their home, No. 426 Westminster place, St. Louis.

SCHEME TO CROSS OCEAN IN BALLOON

Three French Professors Plan Trip Over the Atlantic from Canary Islands to Trinidad, British West Indies.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The Paris correspondent of the Standard ascribes to three well-known professors a daring scheme to cross the Atlantic in a balloon. They are MM. Reclus, the eminent geographer; Berget, of the Sor-bonne, and Capassa, the aeronaut.

The scheme has in contemplation a balloon of 13,000 cubic metres, with a capacity for carrying six persons, a parachute and a lifeboat.

Two of the occupants will be sailors, in order that the lifeboat can be managed in case it should be necessary to use it.

As a result of careful study of prevailing winds, it is believed that it will be best to start from the Canaries in the month of May and attempt to land at Trinidad, British West Indies.

The professors believe the trip will occupy only four or five days.
